TROY J. EGGERS

Troy Eggers has served Columbia with great distinction for more than two decades. Since joining the University in 2000, Eggers has excelled in a variety of senior positions within Columbia Business School, the School of International and Public Affairs, and the Office of the Provost. As executive vice provost, he oversaw critical areas of academic management—financial planning, faculty housing, human resources, travel, emergency protocols, and space planning—in addition to oversight of the International Students & Scholars Office; Columbia University Press; The University Seminars; and the Alliance joint-venture among Columbia, École Polytechnique, Sciences Po, and Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University. Eggers has also served as a member of the University’s Emergency Management Operations Team.

Prior to his time in the Office of the Provost, Eggers served as senior associate dean of the School of International and Public Affairs, responsible for all student-related and administrative departments and functions. Before that he spent 10 years at Columbia Business School, where he ran Executive Education, successfully seeing it through the challenges of the 2007–2008 financial crisis, and for a period also served as assistant dean of Executive MBA programs.

In 2020, he joined the School of Professional Studies (SPS) as interim dean before being appointed full-time dean in August 2021. Under his leadership, SPS has grown with the launch of the M.S. in Political Analytics program, the Columbia SPS CUNY Fellowship, and the Career Catalyst Internship Program.

FACULTY ADDRESS
GREGORY J. WAWRO, PH.D.

Professor Gregory Wawro is the director and founder of the M.S. in Political Analytics program. He previously served as the chair of the Department of Political Science at Columbia. He holds his Ph.D. from Cornell University and specializes in American politics, including Congress, elections, campaign finance, judicial politics, political economy, and political methodology. He is the author of Legislative Entrepreneurship in the U.S. House of Representatives and coauthor (with Eric Schickler) of Filibuster: Obstruction and Lawmaking in the United States Senate, which is a historical analysis of the causes and consequences of filibusters. His most recent book, Time Counts: Quantitative Analysis for Historical Social Science (with Ira Katznelson), seeks to advance historical research in the social sciences by bridging the divide between qualitative and quantitative analysis through an expansion of the standard quantitative methodological toolkit with a set of innovative approaches that capture nuances missed by more commonly used statistical methods. Wawro is currently working on projects that explore the role that social media is playing in congressional elections and democratic participation.

KRISTINE BILLMYER, PH.D.

Kristine Billmyer is professor of professional practice in communication, dean emerita of the Faculty of Professional Studies, and director of the M.S. in Strategic Communication program. She served as dean and professor of Columbia's School of Continuing Education (now the School of Professional Studies) from 2009 to 2015. During this time, she launched new graduate degrees and certificates focused on emerging and continually evolving professions. Billmyer established the School's presence abroad, forming partnerships with universities around the world, globalizing the student body, and engaging Columbia's Global Centers in Amman, Paris, Beijing, Mumbai, Rio, and Istanbul for student and faculty projects and programs.

Billmyer is a recognized scholar, educator, and consultant in gender equity, diversity, and cross-cultural variation in language. She teaches Gender and Communication in the Workplace and Global Communication for Professionals. An advocate for the advancement of women globally, she writes on that topic and speaks frequently at national and international meetings. Billmyer is currently working on a longitudinal project on women's empowerment in Japan.

Billmyer earned her Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania and her bachelor's degree from Vassar College.
